To the Manager

I regularly shop at your supermarket. The products that I buy include items that are packaged with polystyrene trays. There is often no other product with a different packaging option available. Also, it would be great to buy the products in retail packs for B.B.Q's, parties, etc; I would certainly purchase a product utilizing a more eco-friendly packaging solution.

I would like to alert you to the existence of a packaging product I have just discovered called Potato Plates. They are 100% safe, 100% biodegradable and compostable packaging equivalents made from potato starch waste. They have a website: www.potatoplates.com

Please will you consider using Potato Plates instead of polystyrene. I, and all my friends, would choose to purchase products packaged with Potato Plates and the retail packs.

Yours Sincerely
